ACCESS TO EXPOSURE AND MEDICAL RECORDS SELF INSPECTION CHECKLIST

Guidelines: This checklist covers regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Labor - Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) under the general industry standard 29 CFR 1910.1020 which was adopted by reference. It applies to airborne exposure records, medical records, material safety data sheets and chemical inventory records. Definitions of underlined terms are provided at the end of the checklist to help you understand some of the questions. Implementation of some or all of the "Access to Exposure and Medical Records" regulations may not be the individual classroom teachers's responsibility, especially the application of these regulations to teachers. The questions that are most likely not the responsibility of the individual teacher are marked with an asterisk (*).

Definitions:

Access - means in general a copy of the record is provided without cost or the necessary photocopying facilities are made available without cost or the record is loaned for a reasonable time to enable a copy to be made. Access must be in a reasonable time, place, and manner.

Designated Representative - means an individual or organization to whom a student/teacher has given written authorization to exercise a right of access. For access to teacher exposure records, a recognized collective bargaining agent is considered a designated representative and does not need written student/teacher authorization. A recognized collective bargaining agent must still get written authorization from a student/teacher for access to their individual medical records.

Exposure Records - means any representative exposure record containing environmental monitoring or measuring of a toxic substance or harmful physical agent; and material safety data sheets or a chemical inventory or any other record which reveals where and when a toxic substance or harmful physical agent was used and its chemical identity. It also includes biological monitoring results.

Medical Records - means a record concerning the health status of a person which is made or maintained by a physician, nurse, or other health care personnel or technician. It includes medical histories or questionnaires; the results of medical examinations; medical opinions, diagnoses and recommendations; first aid records; descriptions of treatments; and medical complaints.
